PRESS RELEASE

BNP Paribas: Marc Camus is appointed Group Chief Information Officer

Marc Camus, previously CIO of BNP Paribas Fortis, will succeed Bernard Gavgani as Chief Information Officer of BNP Paribas from 1 April 2025. He will join the BNP Paribas Executive Committee and report to Philippe Maillard, Chief Operating Officer of BNP Paribas.

As the CIO of BNP Paribas, Marc Camus will continue to deploy and strengthen BNP Paribas' IT strategy for the benefit of the Bank's clients and all the Group's entities.

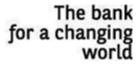

In close collaboration with BNP Paribas' businesses and functions, and working alongside all IT teams, he will oversee IT System security, drive operational efficiency improvements across the Group, and further enhance the customer experience through the deployment of cutting-edge technologies such as artificial intelligence and cloud computing.

Bernard Gavgani will continue to contribute to the Group in the role of Senior Advisor to the Group's General Management. He will report to Yann Gérardin, Chief Operating Officer of BNP Paribas, Corporate & Institutional Banking. In this role, he will primarily support certain major clients and suppliers in the technology sector.

« I am pleased to welcome Marc Camus to our Executive Committee and wish him every success in his new role. Under the leadership of Bernard Gavgani, and driven by the tireless efforts of our IT teams, the Group's information systems have significantly evolved,. This transformation has enabled a strengthened integration, the adoption and deployment of new technologies, and the highest standards of efficiency and security for both the Bank and its clients. I have every confidence in Marc Camus's ability to continue to build on this progress and support the Group in navigating the challenges and opportunities of the future », said Jean-Laurent Bonnafé, Director and Chief Executive Officer of BNP Paribas

« I am delighted to announce the appointment of Marc Camus as the head of our IT department. His recognized expertise and extensive experience in technology and innovation will help drive our digital strategy and meet the needs of our clients. I wish him all the best in his new role. » said Philippe Maillard, Chief Operating Officer of BNP Paribas
