PHILIPPE MAILLARD

Group Chief Operating Officer

Career

Philippe Maillard joined BNP Paribas in 1992 as a credit analyst. He has spent his entire career in the Group, initially in Structured Finance, then joined Inspection Générale for 4 years. He then held several management positions within CIB, including: Business Manager – Energy, Commodities, Export & Project in New York; Deputy Head of Business Management – Structured Finance; Global Head of Performance Management at CIB Finance; CFO of Global Equities & Commodity Derivatives and Chief Operating Officer of BNP Paribas Arbitrage. In 2015, he was appointed Chief of Staff to Yann Gérardin and, in 2018, took on the role of Chief Operating Officer for the Asia-Pacific region. In 2019, he became Chief Operating Officer of the entire CIB division. In his role as COO, he supervises CIB's support functions, coordinating the division's objectives while managing the efficiency of the system. In 2025, Philippe Maillard is appointed Group Chief Operating Officer and a member of the Executive Committee of BNP Paribas.

Education

Philippe Maillard is a graduate of the École des Ponts ParisTech, as well as of the Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Paris (Sciences Po).

BIOGRAPHY

BNP PARIBAS

The bank for a changing world